

RESOURCES AND SERVICES

Students who attend Harris join a community of scholars responsible for pioneering the field of sociology, discovering the structure of DNA, and calculating the speed of light. UChicago is a community of scholars comprised of more than 80 Nobel laureates, one that leads the nation in Fulbright-Hays fellowships.

The path of a graduate student will be dotted with achievements and successes, challenges and struggles. However, there is an entire campus and community here to support Harris students. Below is a compilation of University Resources.
